

A-to-Be® is a technology-based solution provider for intelligent mobility systems, developing scalable, modular and differentiating solutions, collaborating with a network of relevant partners that support the production of new technological solutions.

Strategic Objectives

1. Promote technological anticipation/ technological update.
2. Produce technology solutions that are scalable and able to strength value transfer.
3. Strengthen the network of competences and connection of scientific knowledge to support the production of new technological solutions.
4. Create new solutions/products or introduce technological improvements that can respond to new demand settings.
5. Continue the incremental improvement of the technology solutions offered.
6. Permanently revitalize knowledge streams.